HONG KONG - ECONOMIC OVERVIEW

Hong Kong has a free market economy, highly dependent on international trade and finance - the value of goods and services trade, including the sizable share of reexports, is about four times GDP. Hong Kong has no tariffs on imported goods, and it levies excise duties on only four commodities, whether imported or produced locally: hard alcohol, tobacco, hydrocarbon oil, and methyl alcohol. There are no quotas or dumping laws. Hong Kong continues to link its currency closely to the US dollar, maintaining an arrangement established in 1983.

Excess liquidity, low interest rates and a tight housing supply have caused Hong Kong property prices to rise rapidly. The lower and middle-income segments of the population increasingly find housing unaffordable.

Hong Kong's open economy has left it exposed to the global economic situation. Its continued reliance on foreign trade and investment makes it vulnerable to renewed global financial market volatility or a slowdown in the global economy.

The mainland has long been Hong Kong's largest trading partner, accounting for about half of Hong Kong's total trade by value. Hong Kong's natural resources are limited, and food and raw materials must be imported. As a result of China's easing of travel restrictions, the number of mainland tourists to the territory surged from 4.5 million in 2001 to 47.3 million in 2014, outnumbering visitors from all other countries combined. After peaking in 2014, overall tourist arrivals dropped 2.5% in 2015 and 4.5% in 2016. The tourism sector rebounded in 2017, with visitor arrivals rising 3.2% to 58.47 million. Travelers from Mainland China totaled 44.45 million, accounting for 76% of the total.

The Hong Kong Government is promoting the Special Administrative Region (SAR) as the preferred business hub for renminbi (RMB) internationalization. Hong Kong residents are allowed to establish RMB-denominated savings accounts, RMB-denominated corporate and Chinese government bonds have been issued in Hong Kong, RMB trade settlement is allowed, and investment schemes such as the Renminbi Qualified Foreign Institutional Investor (RQFII) Program was first launched in Hong Kong. Offshore RMB activities experienced a setback, however, after the People's Bank of China changed the way it set the central parity rate in August 2015. RMB deposits in Hong Kong fell from 1.0 trillion RMB at the end of 2014 to 559 billion RMB at the end of 2017, while RMB trade settlement handled by banks in Hong Kong also shrank from 6.8 trillion RMB in 2015 to 3.9 trillion RMB in 2017.

Hong Kong has also established itself as the premier stock market for Chinese firms seeking to list abroad. In 2015, mainland Chinese companies constituted about 50% of the firms listed on the Hong Kong Stock Exchange and accounted for about 66% of the exchange's market capitalization.

During the past decade, as Hong Kong's manufacturing industry moved to the mainland, its service industry has grown rapidly. In 2014, Hong Kong and China signed a new agreement on achieving basic liberalization of trade in services in Guangdong Province under the Closer Economic Partnership Agreement (CEPA), adopted in 2003 to forge closer ties between Hong Kong and the mainland. The new measures, which took effect in March 2015, cover a negative list and a most-favored treatment provision. On the basis of the Guangdong Agreement, the Agreement on Trade in Services signed in November 2015 further enhanced liberalization, including extending the implementation of the majority of Guangdong pilot liberalization measures to the whole Mainland, reducing the restrictive measures in the negative list, and adding measures in the positive lists for cross-border services as well as cultural and telecommunications services. In June 2017, the Investment Agreement and the Agreement on Economic and Technical Cooperation (Ecotech Agreement) were signed under the framework of CEPA.

Hong Kong's economic integration with the mainland continues to be most evident in the banking and finance sector. Initiatives like the Hong Kong-Shanghai Stock Connect, the Hong Kong- Shenzhen Stock Connect the Mutual Recognition of Funds, and the Bond Connect scheme are all important steps towards opening up the Mainland's capital markets and have reinforced Hong Kong's role as China's leading offshore RMB market. Additional connect schemes such as ETF Connect (for exchange-traded fund products) are also under exploration by Hong Kong authorities. In 2017, Chief Executive Carrie LAM announced plans to increase

GENERAL

Laxton Group Limited was incorporated on 27th February, 2014 as a private limited liability company under the Hong Kong Companies Ordinance.

The subject does not have its own operating office. Its registered office is in a commercial service firm located at '10/F., Wharf T & T Centre, Harbour City, 7 Canton Road, Tsimshatsui, Kowloon, Hong Kong' known as 'Regus Business Services (HK) Ltd.' [Regus] which is handling its correspondences and documents. Regus is also a business centre.

The subject has no employees in Hong Kong.

According to the Companies Registry of Hong Kong, the subject has issued 1 million ordinary shares of HK$1.00 each of which 57% are owned by Mr. Lyle Charles Laxton; 20% are owned by Nelson Da Silva Pereira, 10% are owned by Hendrik Pieter Warnigh Meeding, etc.

The directors of the subject are Mr. Nelson Da Silva Pereira, Mr. Paul August Bellin, Mr. Warren Gordon Dingwall and Mr. Lyle Charles Laxton. Bellin is a US-passport holder while the others are South Africa passport holders. All of them do not have the right to reside in Hong Kong.

The subject has had an associated company in South Africa known as Laxton Technologies SA (Pty) Ltd. [Laxton].

Laxton is a global Leader in providing cost effective, high technology Election, Identity and Self-Service solutions to governments and corporations.

Flagship technologies include biometrics (fingerprint, iris, face, and voice), big data analytics and cryptography (digital signatures, encryption, public key infrastructure). New technologies being introduced include: artificial intelligence, IoT and blockchain technology.

Equipped with a full complement of highly experienced professionals in software development, engineering, manufacturing, and project management, Laxton has a proven track record of successfully implementing large scale projects. Laxton can rapidly move from creation of concept design and prototyping, to complete manufacture and final execution all under one roof.

Laxton was founded in South Africa in 2004, and now operates from offices around the world. Headquartered in Hong Kong, Laxton has production and technology facilities in China, and branches in New York, and Johannesburg with regional offices in Zimbabwe, Mozambique, Malawi, Indonesia, and Colombia.

Laxton is engaged in the research and development of the following sectors:

- Electronics Engineering
- Mechanical Engineering
- Software Development
- System Architecture
- Industrial Design

The departments are supported by world-class machinery, equipment, and workshops that allow for efficient and large-scale production and assembly. The equipment and workshops of Laxton include:

3D Printing

UV Printing

Metal Workshop

Plastics Workshop

Painting Workshop

Silk Screen & Printing Workshop

High-density foam/sponge workshop

Wood work

Packaging workshop

All prototypes, and samples, are rigorously tested, and final products undergo intensive quality control in order to ensure the final delivered product meets the specifications of its customers.

The main office of the subject seems to be in Guangzhou, Guangdong Province, China. Your given phone number belongs to the China company of Laxton.

The subject's business in Hong Kong is not active. History in Hong Kong is over four years and four months. On the whole, since the subject does not have its own operating office and has no employees in Hong Kong, consider it good for business engagements on L/C basis.
